

Preventing COVID-19 Spread in Child Care Settings

To reduce the risk of spread of COVID-19, people should stay home if they feel unwell. Families need to closely monitor and screen their children each day using the COVID-19 Daily Checklist. Keep children home when they are unwell or have new or worsening symptoms and visit the COVID-19 Self-assessment. Talk to your child care setting if your child has chronic symptoms for example seasonal allergies or migraines.

If your child becomes unwell or develops new or worsening health symptoms while in care, the following measures will take place:

Monitor your child until you arrive

Have them wash their hands

Offer a mask to older children if available and tolerated (not for under 2 years or if unable to remove on their own)

Escort them to an isolation room/area

Call you to come pick them up

Advise you to visit the COVID-19 Self-assessment:

<https://covid-self-assessment.novascotia.ca>
or if unable to access the online tool, call 811

Even if your child only has one mild symptom, testing is strongly encouraged. The online COVID-19 self-assessment at covid-self-assessment.novascotia.ca/en will tell you if your child is required to self-isolate while awaiting test results.

- If self-isolation is not required, your child may return when they are feeling better with no fever medication for 24 hours. Mild lingering symptoms such as cough or runny nose does not prevent individuals from returning. Repeat the assessment for any new or worsening symptoms

- If self-isolation is required, your child will need to stay home until the test results come back.

- If the test is positive, public health will follow up and provide support and will advise when your child can return to care.

- If the test is negative, your child may return when they are feeling better with no fever medication for 24 hours. Mild lingering symptoms such as cough or runny nose does not prevent individuals from returning. Repeat the assessment for any new or worsening symptoms.

- If public health tells you that your child is considered a close contact of someone with COVID-19, they will need to stay home for 14 days. Household members of that child do not need to stay home unless they are also a close contact of someone with COVID-19.

We know that keeping children home is difficult for families. Taking a cautious approach is important to control the spread of COVID-19 and other viruses. This plan may change based on new information.

For any new or worsening symptoms complete the COVID-19 Self-assessment: <https://covid-self-assessment.novascotia.ca>